

PRESS RELEASE

February 9th, 2026

Complaint for incitement to antisemitic hatred, violence, and Holocaust denial

On February 5th, 2026, the Institut Jonathas filed a complaint with the Belgian judicial authorities against "Golemsklub" for incitement to racial hatred, incitement to violence, antisemitism, and Holocaust denial, following repeated serious incidents observed on several social networks.

For several months, an individual identified on several social networks has been repeatedly and systematically disseminating content targeting Jewish people: insults, hate speech, calls for violence, explicit references to a new Shoah, as well as content contesting or mocking the genocide of six million Jews.

Among the elements reported are:

- explicit questioning of the Holocaust,
- the use of symbols, stereotypes, and montages inspired by Nazi propaganda,
- content calling for the dehumanization of Jews,
- and publications targeting public figures through antisemitic methods.

The Institut Jonathas has forwarded a detailed file to the relevant authorities, including screenshots and documents demonstrating the repetition, seriousness, and potential danger of this content.

The Institute has also been made aware of worrying information concerning the author's alleged access to sensitive data, as well as his professional responsibilities involving vulnerable audiences, factors which justify increased vigilance and thorough investigation by the authorities.

In addition, a person close to the main author is also mentioned for antisemitic publications and for promoting Nazi ideology. These facts have already been covered by Sudinfo in a separate context and have been included in the file sent to the courts.

"Freedom of expression does not cover the denial of genocide or incitement to hatred or violence. Faced with the trivialization of anti-Semitism and its widespread dissemination online, it is our collective responsibility to act."

The Institut Jonathas points out that Holocaust denial is a criminal offense in Belgium, that incitement to hatred and violence constitutes a direct threat to social cohesion, and that social media cannot become lawless zones.

The Institut Jonathas will continue to document antisemitic abuses, refer them to the competent authorities, and work to combat antisemitism and defend the rule of law.